A Note from the Resident Board Members

Dear Olympia Residents,

The Transition Committee has been created and is meeting on a regular basis. They are working for the benefit of our community in preparation of transferring control of Olympia to the home-owners. Transition will occur near the end of this year or the first quarter of 2012. Please be assured that the committee along with Lee Goldman, Olympia Master Board Vice President and I, Resident Director, have our community's best interest in mind as we work toward that goal.

We would like to introduce you to the Transition Committee:

- Sam Young, Transition Committee Chairman, Shaughnessy
- Matt Davies, Finance Committee Chair, Thomson
- Alex Theodossis, Scribner
- Mike Mitchell, Easton
- Bill Leeds, Widener
- Bea LeVan, Merriweather

The committee is in the process of examining engineering reports to make sure items that need to be repaired and changed are addressed before the transition; they are examining the financials and will be negotiating agreements over money; they will examine the Declaration of Covenants and the Master By-Laws which govern Olympia and make recommendations to the Board, and of course, they handle any other problems which may come before them.

With deep appreciation for their efforts on behalf of our community,

Lee Goldman, OMA Vice President
Anthony Petrucci, OMA Resident Director

Meet Your Neighbor Gillian Gordon

New York native Gillian Gordon spent most of her career working in the behavioral health field as a Mental Health Therapist and Vocational Counselor. Gillian earned a BA from Baruch College and a MA in Rehabilitation Counseling at New York University. In 2004, her husband Wayne O'Neil Gordon was involved in a fatal automobile accident, which thrust her into the role of a single mom to her five-year old son Jonathan O'Neil Gordon. Two years after the accident, she set about to redesign her life with a move to Wellington, Florida.

"This life changing event helped to propel an inner strength that I never knew I had," comments Gillian. "I decided I had to be an entrepreneur, affording me greater flexibility to take care of my son."

Her love and passion for helping people inspired her to seek an art educational program for children. Gillian became the Educational Director and a Franchise Owner of Abrakadoodle Art Education in Greater West Palm Beach. Abrakadoodle (www.abrakadoodle.com) is a premier, curriculum based, international art education program that partners with schools and community sites to deliver quality art programs for children ages 20 months to 12 years old. She now helps children build art skills, express themselves and develop creative right brain abilities that can contribute to long-term success.

"It's a challenge to run such a dynamic business, but I love the flexibility," Gillian says. "I enjoy taking Abrakadoodle's creative art classes, camps, parties and special events out into the community, which gives me a real sense of connection in a positive way."

Her son Jonathan, aka "Tank", has blossomed in south Florida. He is currently in the 7th grade at Kentwood Preparatory School. He excels academically while still enjoying friends and activities. He performed this year's school play, "Guys and Dolls." A real sports enthusiast, Jonathan plays on a travel soccer team, Wellington Wave Soccer Club. He is passionate about doing his best for the team.

"He is an all around great kid," Gillian gushes. "Our move to Florida has really worked out for him and he has grown into a happy young man who contributes to his community and is supported with a lot of friends. As you can see, I'm a proud mama."
